POPULAR POLITICAL ECONOMY IN EUROPE? LOOKING FOR A PATHWAY FOR JOB-CREATING AND ECOLOGICAL PUBLIC INVESTMENT

It is obvious that the economy after the major global crash in 2007 did not return to a sustainable path. At the beginning of 2019, it is highly likely that we are entering a new recession.

The EuroMemo Group is a network of European researchers and scholars addressing these issues by a critical analysis of contemporary developments in the European Union.

The main aim of this event is to continue and enhance the debate with other actors, aiming to solidify the common ground for a popular Europe, able to withstand an apparent populist Zeitgeist.
