Press release: Progress in the fight against poverty lies buried in the revised EU Social Package

There is room for progress in the fight against poverty and social exclusion in the Revised Social Package the European Commission presented in July, but the fact that the proposals to address poverty lie buried in the overall package calls into question the political commitment there is to make progress on these essential issues. This is the assessment of the European Anti Poverty Network (EAPN) in a letter sent today to the President Barroso and the Commissioner for Employment and Social affairs, Mr. Spidla.

For EAPN the potential progress includes the commitments to:

- * Strengthen the EU Inclusion Strategy (the Social Open Method of Coordination),
- * Set European targets in the fight against poverty,
- * Produce Commission recommendations in relation to the adequacy of minimum income schemes, access to services and access to employment for
